

WEST SIDE HILL PAVING DELAYED.

Borough Engineer Hogg Gives an Opportunity to Investigate "Amasite."

BUSINESS FOR THE SOLICITORS

They Are Directed to Look Into Disputed Ownership of Two Sewers and Get Paving Assessment From Connellsville Township.

Little business of importance was transacted at the regular monthly meeting of Council last night although the attendance of members was better than at any session for months past. Of the 21 Councilmen, only W. A. Bishop and John F. Reynolds were absent. The other 19 either answered present when their names were called or else arrived during the reading of the minutes.

A tendency to mark time was indicated throughout the session and several matters were referred to the Borough Solicitors to be cleared up before action is taken. The West Side hill improvement was delayed until another meeting at the request of Borough Engineer James B. Hogg. Mr. Hogg requested time to look into the matter of amasite instead of brick for paving. He explained that this type of paving is being made on the National Pike out of Uniontown and a trip over it convinced him that it stands the test it is much to be preferred over brick or other styles. Amasite is macadam mixed with a bituminous binder. It is practically dustless and wears remarkably well. Mr. Hogg will pursue his investigations carefully and report at the next meeting. The bids of contractors for paving the hill were returned. Contractor O'Connor requested his bid because of the delay endangering an approach of bad weather that would be serious.

Mr. Hogg's estimates on the hill street bridge were much lower than the later figures, determined after specifications had been drawn. Instead of $200 the bridge will cost either $175, $350 or $715, according to the style adopted. The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

The disputed ownership of the Greenwood sewer was referred to the Borough Solicitors at the request of F. R. Yoder, appearing for J. H. Parkhill, who has been sued for trespass for entering the sewer without paying for the privilege. The Solicitors will determine just what the legal status of the case is at this time.

The Solicitors were also instructed to take up at the same time the dispute between the borough and W. A. Haggett over a sewer on Vlna street. George H. Freed complained of a drop at the corner of Prospect street and Church place being stopped up. He stated that he had kept this drop clean for 20 years or more and that its present condition is costly the borough $100 a year or more as a result of the dirt that is carried down into the business section. He requested attention to the matter. He stated his bill for cleaning the drop for so long is being kept on "file." The matter was referred to the Street Committee.

J. A. DeWitt asked that attention be given Newberry avenue, where lots he says are being damaged by surface water. He requested a surface water sewer as Mrs. Jean H. Davidson, who owns considerable property in that section of the South Side, desires to make improvements which, she alleges, are impossible under present conditions. The Street Committee was directed to look after this matter also.

The Building Committee will meet with the Connellsville Construction Company on Thursday night to take up the matter of the fire house. Nothing was done in regard to it at the session last evening. The matter of the Connellsville township tax bill will be referred to the County Commissioners for action.

The session due the borough for street paving done in the township is now in the hands of Solicitor J. K. Rimmer. Earlier action was not possible because Mr. Rimmer was unable until a week ago to ascertain who the township supervisors were when the paving was done and the agreement made for them to stand their share of the cost, and who are on the board at this time.

THE GREAT STEAMER OLYMPIC RAMMED BY ENGLISH GUNBOAT.

Largest Passenger Vessel in World Beached Two Hours After Leaving British Port This Morning—Took Water So Fast Captain Had to Run Ashore.

United Press Telegram.
SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Sept. 20.—Less than two hours after she had cleared this port with 1,200 passengers and a crew of 1,000 men, and with the largest cargo ever carried by an ocean liner jamming her hold, the giant White Star liner Olympic, the largest passenger vessel in the world was rammed in the Cowes Roadstead by the British cruiser Hawke.

The great steel prow of the warship plowed through the plates on the starboard port of the big passenger liner, wounding her so deeply that her commander, the veteran Commodore Smith, head of the White Star line navigation force, turned her prow shoreward and beached her on the shifting sand of Osborne Bay.

The first word of the collision reached the general offices of the White Star line by wireless from the liner herself. Commodore Smith stated that his vessel had taken water so rapidly that he was compelled to run her ashore; but that his collision bulkheads were holding so well that he believed he could keep the water out of everything but the starboard hold. He asked for instructions, saying that he had his passengers lined up on deck, his life boats and rafts manned and that there was no possibility of less of life.

Word was wireless to him to lighten his passengers if necessary and shortly afterward the officials of the line announced that this had been done. The report, however, proved erroneous, as Commander Smith, after a survey of the damage in company with his chief officer, decided that he could bring the ship, cargo and passengers back to port unharmed. He notified officials of the line here and they rushed smaller vessels to his assistance. They pulled the Olympic off and the big liner was towed into this port and will be put in dry-dock and repaired.

Because of the demand for Uniontown connections it has been necessary to limit the calls to five minutes each. Abuse of the free privilege in some quarters made this rule necessary.

Since assuming charge here Mr. McCormick has built up the Tri-State until the system is today in better shape than ever before and the service as good as the best.

On over calls the Tri-State now has remarkably good service to Somerset, Meyersdale and Cumberland, and the Pittsburgh wires are rapidly becoming popular, not only because of prompt connections but also on account of the excellent condition of equipment.

Charlertoi Now in Central League

Charlertoi was admitted to the Central league at a meeting in Pittsburgh last evening and one team is lacking to complete the six club circuit. It is probable that either North Side, Pittsburgh, or Monongahela will get the one remaining franchise. The prospects for the coming season are bright as both South Side and Johnstown indicated plenty of enthusiasm over the basketball outlook in their respective cities.

Manager M. A. Coffey represented the Connellsville team at last night's meeting. There is no question as to the staying qualities of this town and Uniontown. It is understood that Uniontown will endeavor to dispose of its last year's team to one of the new towns in the circuit.

President, Leithhead, Manager Fred and of South Side and President Jones of the Uniontown team were named a committee to select the sixth team for the circuit.

Temperature Drops; River Rises Some

There was a 10 degree drop in the temperature this morning over the same time yesterday. This morning the mercury registered 57 degrees and the breeze that blew was flaked with the breath of fall. The atmosphere was that which is aptly called "bracing."

With the temperature going down the river was contrary and rose a bit over night. The gauge showed 5.60 feet this morning. Last evening's mark was an even 5 feet.

SETTLEMENT PENDING.

One Salvatore Hit Other Salvatore Over Head With a Bottle.

Salvatore Matal was given a hearing last evening by Justice of the Peace W. P. Clark on a charge of assault and battery charged preferred by Salvatore Andriolowani. It is alleged that the men had an argument on Monday which resulted in Matal hitting Andriolowani over the head with a bottle.

Matal was held in the lockup over night and efforts are being made to day to settle the matter without going to court.

LID CLAMPED DOWN ON STREET WALKERS

Burgess Evans Goes Rough Shod After Water Street Hotel Man.

FOUR GIRLS UNDER SIXTEEN

Were Given Shelter There Last Night and Dousing of Pedestrian Results in Police Interference—Two Girls Picked Up Are Discharged.

Burgess J. L. Evans this morning indicated that there would be a crusade inaugurated against "street walkers." Two girls, one 16 and the other 15 years of age, were arrested early this morning at the Kelly Hotel on Water street and Proprietor John Popovich was given a reprimand in police court for giving shelter to them. Burgess Evans and Officer Gekker went to the Kelly Hotel and found two other girls about the same age staying there. One of them was from Uniontown and the other from Morgantown. They were ordered to leave town immediately.

J. H. Harford of Brownsville was walking past the Kelly House about 6:30 this morning when without warning he received a drenching. He demanded satisfaction and as a result Officer Thomas McDonald arrested Alexia Bartlett, 16, of Dunbar, and Myrtle Cover, 15, of Connellsville. They had spent the night at the hotel. Miss Cover admitted throwing the water out of the window of a third story front bedroom. She said she did it because a crowd of men were "rubbering" in that direction. She did not know whether Harford was one of the party.

Both girls demanded that the other two be arrested. The others occupied an adjoining front room. It is said. They were held pending a further investigation and later discharged. They were warned of the streets. Both denied improper conduct but Burgess Evans declared the police had reported them walking the street of late.

County Detective Frank McLaughlin was present at this hearing this morning and held a conference with the Burgess relative to the conduct of the Water street hotel. Proprietor Popovich was warned by Burgess Evans to be more careful about his guests in the future.

"You have no right to give shelter to these girls," Burgess Evans told him. "Everyone of these girls is under 16 years old. They have no business running the streets at all hours and being taken in for the night. You know what is going on and you should not countenance it."

Burgess Evans stated that the two girls found later in the hotel admitted they had been guilty of improprieties during their stay in Connellsville. They promised to leave immediately.

Councilmen Quit? Nothing Doing

Councilman William McCormick dissipated a hot tip last night just before the Council meeting that there would be an almost wholesale resignation of Councilmen at the session. "Bill" got the tip. It is whispered, from William Dempsey McMillin, for a brief time held municipal of the Democratic campaign and logical leader of the last session. The days was that President James B. Millard, C. M. Stoner, E. U. Hettel and S. B. Decker would leave the Connellsville body.

The tip was freely circulated and resulted in a better attendance of minority members than for months past. A number of spectators dropped around, too, expecting to see the fun. Unfortunately for the listeners there was nothing doing. "News to me," remarked President Millard, when told of the rumor after the meeting had adjourned. Other members were equally at sea.

United Press Telegram.
CUMBERLAND, Md., Sept. 20.—Two men were shot to death early today and a third, with his body slashed almost to ribbons, died a few minutes later, and all for a drink of whiskey, at Dodson, Garrett county, Md.

Larry McDade, 38 years of age and a miner, was sitting alongside the Western Maryland tracks, drinking from a pint bottle of whiskey, when two foreigners appeared and demanded a drink. McDade refused and the two attacked him with stilletos. After he had shot one of the men he used the body of the dead man as a shield while fighting the other. Finally a shot told and the Italian fell dead. McDade was barely able to tell his story before falling unconscious. He died a short time later.

SHOWER IS GIVEN MISS M'DIFFETT.

J. O. C. Society Contributes Many Handkerchiefs for Her.

LEAVES FOR MISSION SCHOOL.

Regular Monthly Meeting of Organization Held Last Night. Was One of Largest That Has Been Held—Picnic at the White Rocks.

The J. O. C. Society of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school met last evening at the home of the Misses McDuffett on Fourth street, West Side, and tendered Miss Anna McDuffett, teacher of the class a handkerchief shower. The meeting was the regular monthly one, but the shower was a great surprise to Miss McDuffett. Miss McDuffett has been teacher of the class for some time past and was the class organizer. By her untiring work she has increased the membership and the class today is one of the largest organized Sunday school classes in Connellsville. Miss McDuffett has tendered her resignation as the class teacher and will leave Monday evening, October 2, for New York City to take a course in a mission training school. Miss McDuffett is a former teacher in the local public schools and also taught in the McCrum Slavonic Training School in Uniontown.

The attendance last evening was the largest for some time and the meeting was one of unusual interest. As yet Miss McDuffett's successor as class teacher has not been decided on. An assistant teacher will also be chosen. Miss Nellie Henry and Miss Ivey Mason were appointed a flower committee. Plans for a picnic to be held at the White Rocks were discussed but the date was not decided on. Several musical numbers were rendered and dainty refreshments were served. It was decided to meet hereafter on the second Tuesday night of each month instead of the third Tuesday night. The Misses Strick of Wheeling, W. Va., were guests of the society.

THOS. V. EDMONDS DIES SUDDENLY.

For Many Years He Was Foreman of Sodom Shops.

WITH B. & O. FOR 39 YEARS

Was Transferred From Connellsville to Painesville, O., 19 Years Ago to Take Charge of the B. & O. Shops at That Point.

Thomas V. Edmonds, aged 70 years, a former well known resident of Connellsville and a veteran employee of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company, dropped dead this morning at his late home at Painesville, O. Death was due to heart failure. Last February Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds came to Connellsville to make their home with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Armstrong, No. 327 South Eighth street, West Side. On last Saturday they left for Painesville for a visit. Mr. Edmonds apparently was in good health when he left Connellsville and during his stay here had not been ill. The announcement of his sudden death came as a great shock to his relatives and many friends here.

Mr. Edmonds was an employee of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for 39 years. He was retired on the pension list about two years ago. He was foreman of the Sodom shops for 20 years and at the expiration of that time he was transferred to Painesville as foreman of the shops at that place. He retired about 18 months ago. Mr. Edmonds with his family left Connellsville for Painesville about 19 years ago. For the past several summers he and his wife paid their annual visit to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong. Deceased was well known among the older railroad men and was highly respected by all who knew him. He was born in the Shenandoah Valley, Virginia, and when a young man he married Miss Emma Long of Virginia. In addition to his widow he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. C. J. Armstrong of Greenwood, Md., Theresa Asker of Connellsville, Pa., and one son Harry Edmonds of Painesville. The body will be brought to Connellsville tomorrow night on B. & O. train No. 10 and will be removed to the Armstrong residence from which plans services will be held Friday afternoon.

Miller Moths Invade the City

The miller "reunion" is being held in Connellsville. This morning the streets were covered with hundreds of thousands of a species of lepidopterous insects which make their appearance occasionally and are, in this respect, not unlike the "seven year locust." It is just seven years ago that such vast numbers of these millers were seen in this section, and the previous visit came about the same time of year.

The millers were first noticed in great numbers yesterday morning but by today they seem to have increased a thousand fold. They were scattered about windows, on door sills and littered about the streets in profusion. Under the arc lights the streets seemed carpeted with the insects.

The moths, for they are of that species, are uniform in size and appearance. The body takes the form of an arrow head, the wing being brown, with a blue spot on each one. Thin blue veins can be seen plainly on the underside of the wings. They get into the class of millers because of the dust that is on them, and which comes off when the insects are handled.

The insects fly only at night, unless disturbed. During the day they are scattered about in a comatose condition. They are attracted by light and last night hundreds of them fluttered about the arc lights and the illuminated store windows. The cock ovens attracted millions of them.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

Their chief consulting physician of the invalids has been chief consulting physician of the invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The first street to be paved by Contractor C. H. Baldwin was completed with the brick laying last night, and is Grant Avenue. There is yet to be completed the part of Emerson Avenue connecting Grant Avenue with Short street, which will finish the work in this section of town. The Council tried Maxwell brick on the Grant Avenue job, and the red brick don't look so well as the white one in the opinion of many people, nor are they probably of any better wearing quality.

Oysters.
Order oysters today for Thursday, Friday and Saturday delivery at Model Dairy Company, South Broadway, Scottdale.

Sidewalks Down.
The School Board has laid the old flagstones and some new ones that have secured to make a temporary walk across the Chestnut street school lots while Chestnut street is to be paved. The great rain last week has made a mudhole of the street and made it impossible to the hundreds of children that attend school.

More Rain Storms.
There were a couple of violent rains that visited this section yesterday afternoon, together with a thunder storm. It is apparent that all the water was not let down last week. If it doesn't stop there will be too much moisture.

Notice.
Marks & Golden's store will be closed all day, Saturday, September 23. Open Monday as usual.

Expert Piano Tuning.

McPartland-May; a Church Wedding

A very pretty church wedding was that of Miss Rose McPartland, and Edward Anson May, which was solemnized this morning at 7 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception church in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father J. T. Burns. The bride party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march rendered by Kiefer's orchestra. During mass "Hearts and Flowers" was softly rendered. The bride wore a handsome gown of white marquisette over white silk and a hat to match. Her bridal bouquet was composed of white roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Mary May, a sister of the bridegroom, wore white marquisette over pink silk and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her hat was of white beaver trimmed with pink velvet. The best man was James McPartland, a brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony the bridal party was driven to the home of the bride on Murphy Avenue where a wedding breakfast was served, covers being laid for 25. The guests included only the near relatives of the bride and bridegroom. The affair was handsomely appointed in every detail. A dainty pink and white color scheme was effectively carried out in the breakfast and decorations. A large bouquet of pink and white roses formed the attractive centerpiece, while bouquets of gladioli, asters and roses were artistically arranged in all the rooms. Ferns and palms also played a prominent part in the decorations. Following the breakfast Mr. and Mrs. May left for a trip to the Eastern cities.

Mr. May and his bride are a popular young couple of Connelleville, having resided here practically all their lives. The bride is the youngest daughter of Michael McPartland of Murphy Avenue. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. May of South Connelleville and is a graduate of E. H. Harshbarger of the West Side. He graduated in pharmacy from the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. They will reside in Connelleville. The out of town guests at the breakfast were Mrs. Margaret McKoon and daughter, Miss Helena, and son, Gilbert, of Scottdale. The wedding gifts were numerous and included cut glass, hand-painted china, linens, etc.

OHIO COAL.

Production Last Year Reached Total of 34,295,668 Tons.

Ohio's total production of coal in 1910 was 34,295,668 short tons, with a spot value of $35,942,258, according to Edward W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey. Although more than half of the coal mined in Ohio was on strike in 1910 for a period of equivalent to 25 per cent of the average number of days worked, the increase in production in 1910 over 1909 was the largest gain ever made in one year. In 1909 Ohio produced 27,936,611 short tons of coal, valued at $27,789,610. The increase in 1910 was 6,359,057 short tons, or 22.41 per cent in quantity, and $8,152,648, or 29.3 per cent in value. It was due principally to the long-continued illness in the States to the west, but in addition to the influence exerted by the strike the cold winter of 1909-10 had cleared the Lake dock in the Northwest of coal, so that the year opened with a good demand for Ohio coal, and there was unusual activity during the year, except for the comparatively short time of the strike in the organized mines and during two local strikes.

Production increased in 20 of the 28 counties in the State and decreased in 8. The most notable increase was made in Belmont county, whose output gained 2,203,146 short tons. Guernsey county ranked second in increased production, with a gain of 1,601,617 tons. Athens county showed an increase of 1,162,230 tons and the Hocking Valley district, comprising Athens, Hocking, and Perry counties, showed a total gain of 2,052,961 tons. One other county, Jefferson, added over a million tons to its output in 1910, with an increase of 1,232,563 tons. The principal decrease was in Tuscarawas county, which fell off nearly 60 per cent, from 1,577,303 tons in 1909 to 516,189 tons in 1910.

Ohio continues to lead in the percentage of the total production undercut by the use of machines, and in 1910 82,387,211 short tons, or $1.41 per cent of the total, was machine-mined. The number of men employed in the coal mines of Ohio in 1910 was 16,511, who averaged 203 working days. Had it not been for the time lost by strikes, the miners in Ohio would have averaged about 230 working days. The record for efficiency among the miners in Ohio is, however, high. In 1910 the average production by each man employed was 733 tons for the year and 3.61 tons for each working day.

Mr. George Harrison, the State mine inspector, reports that in 1910 there were 161 men killed and 471 injured in the coal mines of Ohio. The death rate per thousand was 3.45 and there were 212,182 tons of coal mined for each life lost, against a death rate per man of 2.45 and 211,358 short tons mined for each fatality in 1909.

RUSSIAN PREMIER WHO DIED FROM WOUNDS.

THE SHIELDS CASE

Resulting From Controller's Surcharge Is Up at Greensburg.

The fight of Sheriff John E. Shields against the controller's surcharge of $42,641 occupied the entire day, Tuesday, before Judge A. D. McConnell at Greensburg.

The case grows out of the coal strike of 1910 and the consequent demand for special deputies at the various coal works. Sheriff Shields contends that the work he performed was entirely outside of his official duties as sheriff and that under the law he was entitled to pay therefore. He made contracts with nearly all the coal companies affected by the strike, furnishing them special deputies under a private contract, and for this work the companies paid him so much per deputy. The stand of the plaintiff is that none of the work performed came within the scope of his regular duties as sheriff, but was done pursuant to the requests of the coal companies and under private contracts which the companies made with him as an individual and not as the sheriff of Westmoreland county.

On the other hand the county claims that the sheriff, as a salaried officer, is not entitled to accept fees for himself, as under the fee system, but shall turn the same over to the county. Under this claim Controller Hittman surcharged Sheriff Shields $42,641 on his 1910 report.

The coal companies to whom special deputies were furnished were the Keystone, Westmoreland Penn Gas-Miner Gas, Cochran Port Palmer, Jamison, New York & Cleveland, Pittsburgh & Baltimore, Loyalhanna, Latrobe Connelleville, Whyel, Ohio, and two or three others.

Veterans in Reunion.

Class members were selected as the place of next year's reunion, September 10, the anniversary of the famous battle. The following officers were elected: D. K. Gribben, Claysville, President; D. W. Vanatta, West Vinley, Vice President; W. E. Milliken, Claysville, Secretary; Reuben Saunders, Claysville, Treasurer.

SCALP ITCHED SO SHE COULDN'T SLEEP

Nor Keep from Scratching. Became Worse and Worse. In Two Weeks Rid Completely of Trouble through Use of Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"One evening while combing my hair, I noticed a few brown crusty spots on my scalp and, of course, I thought it was only a little dandruff that had settled there during the week. So I washed my hair thoroughly but I saw that they wouldn't come out. Then at the end of the next week I washed my hair again, and to my astonishment I saw not only those few but many more had come. Then my head became worse and worse, and my scalp started to itch terribly, so that I could not sleep nor keep from scratching my head. "The crusty places later opened and made sores which bled, and they also itched something terrible. I tried many remedies but none helped and instead they made my head worse. This condition of my scalp kept up for a month, and then one day I read a notice in the paper about Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I at once bought a box, and I used it. In two weeks I was rid completely of this trouble, through the use of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I am never without them, for they are my most highly valued friends." (Signed) Miss Alva Gustafson, 677 Second Ave., New York City, May 17, 1911.

Girl of 12 Cured of Pimples.
"When I was about twelve or thirteen, my face broke out with pimples. They came out in groups and caused great disfigurement. After trying so many remedies without success, I saw the Cuticura Ointment advertised and I sent for a box. In a week I saw a great change in my face, and it rendered a complete cure. Now you can not tell I ever had pimples." (Signed) Miss Sabi Moras, Dover West, N. H., Mar. 31, 1911. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 24, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

Just as Scores of Connelleville People Have.

Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect the aching back, urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.

Donn's Kidney Pills relieve backache. Cure every kidney ill. Many people in this locality recommend Donn's Kidney Pills.

Here's one case: Mrs. W. L. Johnson, 111 Chestnut street, Scottdale, Pa., says: "I was afflicted with kidney complaint for some time and was caused much suffering by backache, dizzy spells and headache. The least work tired me and I did not rest well. I finally decided that I was in need of a kidney medicine and as I had often heard of Donn's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply. Their use made a marked improvement from the first and gradually the symptoms of my trouble disappeared, until I was enjoying good health. I consider Donn's Kidney Pills a most efficient kidney medicine." (Statement given October 3, 1907.)

A Second Statement. When Mrs. Johnson was interviewed on October 9, 1909, she said: "I can still recommend Donn's Kidney Pills highly, for the relief they gave me was permanent. I have had no need of a kidney medicine during the past two years."

BIG LEGAL TALENT TO FIGHT BATTLE

For More Equitable Freight
Rates in the Pittsburgh
District.

A HOT CONTEST IS SURE

The Pittsburgh District Coal Operators
Insist That They Are the Victims of Discrimination—Average Distance
Is Involved.

Coal operators of the Pittsburgh district were on Tuesday notified from Washington, D. C., that hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission in their complaint against the present lake rates would be resumed on October 23. In the original hearings, early in the summer, all of the interests in this district were not represented, but with the resumption of hearings next month they will not only present a united front, but their case will be presented by legal talent of national reputation in similar proceedings.

Wade H. Ellis, who has had charge of the case from the beginning, will be assisted by Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, Mass., who sprang into prominence last year through his connection with the fight in the interests of shippers against the proposed increase in freight rates. Negotiations for securing the services of Mr. Brandeis were begun some time ago and were concluded this week. He has earned the title of "Attorney for the People," because of his practice of taking cases involving the public interest which a lawyer would not find remunerative, and arguing on behalf of the otherwise unrepresented public.

The coal operators of the Pittsburgh district were compelled to appeal to him on the grounds of public interest before he would consent to become a party to the case; but since he has given his consent, he has entered into the work with characteristic vigor, and between now and the resumption of hearings on October 23 he will give the case his undivided attention.

The contest promised to attract public interest only second to that manifested last year when the whole country was up in arms against an increase in railroad rates. Mr. Ellis has a reputation equal to that of Mr. Brandeis for success in cases similar to that affecting shippers of the Pittsburgh district. He made a very successful attorney general for the State of Ohio and one of his notable victories was the car distribution case, which originated before the Ohio Railroad Commission, and which Mr. Ellis conducted on behalf of the people from its inception to its final adjudication by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The complaint of the coal producers of the Pittsburgh district is based upon the rates exacted by the railroads on lake cargoes shipped to Lake Erie. They say that these rates are unjust in two respects, first, because they are unreasonable and beyond the limit that the railroads ought to be allowed to exact; and second, that the rates are unjust when compared with rates exacted from competitive fields from which shipments are also made to the lakes. In other words, that the railroads, by the rates now in force, are discriminating against the Pittsburgh district.

Last year nearly 12,000,000 tons of coal were shipped from this district to the lakes. A large part of these shipments proceeded partly over the Pennsylvania and partly over the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie to Ashland Harbor on Lake Erie. The coal producers have selected the rate exacted by these roads for that carriage as a typical rate, and called the attention of the Interstate Commerce Commission to this particular rate. If this rate is unjust and should be reduced, all the other rates on lake cargo coal from the Pittsburgh district to the lakes would be regarded as unjust and must likewise be reduced.

The rate made by the railroads from the Pittsburgh district to the lakes is uniform for all the shipping points in the district. The latter, roughly speaking, includes the coal-producing territory in and around the city of Pittsburgh embraced within a radius of 10 miles. The average distance from the various points in this district is about 145 miles. In a brief authorized by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and filed in the West Virginia case the average distance is claimed to be 145 miles. In the petition by the Pittsburgh district coal producers before the Interstate Commerce Commission the average distance was estimated to be 120 miles. For this haul the railroads charged for lake coal 83 cents per ton in carloads, f. o. b. docks. This tax upon local coal producers is claimed to be unjust, yielding the railroad companies a rate per ton per mile (based on a haul of 120 miles), of 6.77 mills—a ton mile revenue far in excess of the average revenue on similar commodities. These rates, compared with those charged shippers from West Virginia and Kentucky, are claimed to be unjustly discriminatory.

The result of this discrimination, it is claimed, is seen in the average increase in shipments from the competitive districts. In the last 10 years Pittsburgh shipments of lake coal have increased only 22 per cent, per annum, whereas the increase from the West Virginia districts has amounted to more than 74 per cent, per annum.

The head of one of the largest industrial concerns in Pittsburgh, when he heard on Tuesday that Mr. Brandeis would assist Mr. Ellis in presenting the coal shippers' case before the Interstate Commerce Commission, expressed great satisfaction.

"If the coal shippers win this case," said he, "it will prove of greater benefit than any movement yet suggested for conserving Pittsburgh's position as an industrial center, and it is bound to lead to greater trade expansion than any heretofore enjoyed."

RECIPROCITY FIGHT

In Dominion of Canada Ends Today
After a Strenuous Campaign.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 20.—The hottest political campaign Canada has witnessed since the days of Sir John Macdonald and the National Policy was brought to a whirlwind finish today with rallies and speechmaking in virtually every city, town and hamlet from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Tomorrow the electors throughout the country will express their political preferences and on their verdict depends the fate of the Liberal Government, which, under the leadership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, has been in office for fifteen years, and also the fate of the proposed reciprocity pact with the United States, for which Sir Wilfrid stands sponsor.

If Sir Wilfrid returns to power, the reciprocity bill will be passed soon after the reassembling of Parliament next month, and at an agreed date both Canada and the United States will put the necessary tariff changes into effect.

If the Opposition wins a majority, Robert L. Borden, its leader, will become premier, reciprocity will be dropped and Canada will remain a high tariff country desirous of continuing the present tariff relations with the United States.

The polls will open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and close at 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Unless the voting at large is unusually close it is expected that the outcome will be known by 10 P. M. (Atlantic time).

The campaign is the last in which Premier Laurier will participate, according to his declaration made at the beginning of the struggle. If he wins the contest, he will hold office continuously for a longer period than Sir John Macdonald.

The campaign has been hotly contested in all the Provinces, and although conditions in certain sections of the Dominion are regarded as highly favorable to the Liberal party the result cannot be accurately forecasted. Upon the whole, disinterested observers seem inclined to the opinion that the Government will carry the country by a reduced majority.

The claims of the two sides on the eve of the election are about as follows: The Opposition claims they will gain seats from the Government in the Maritime Provinces—Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island—in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia, while Saskatchewan and Alberta will remain with the Government as at present. The Liberals, on the contrary, maintain that they will increase their present large majority in the French-Canadian sections of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, and will make gains throughout the West.

Practically the reciprocity agreement with the United States has been the sole issue of the campaign. The Liberal press and Liberal speakers have argued its material advantages, while the Opposition has denied its material advantages and denounced the compact as inimical to the commercial unity and national independence of Canada, as a movement towards Continentalism, and as a further step towards separation from the mother country.

The Conservative campaigners have confined themselves largely to the sentimental side of the reciprocity question. The British flag, the maintenance of British connection unimpaired, and protests against closer relations with the United States have formed the basis of Conservative speeches. The Liberals, on the other hand, have sought to keep the fiscal aspect of reciprocity to the front and have accused its absurd contention of the Conservatives that reciprocity will lead Canada away from England and to the United States.

It is conceded that if the Conservatives have succeeded in convincing a majority of the electors that reciprocity would lead to annexation the Government will be defeated. It likewise seems certain that if the Government speakers have satisfied the voters that annexation is impossible the Government will be returned by a substantial majority and the reciprocity agreement ratified.

The French-Canadian Province of Quebec is regarded as the pivotal Province in the election. Here Henri Bourassa, the Opposition Nationalist leader, has vigorously denounced Premier Laurier as too imperialistic. Through his paper, Le Devoir, of Montreal, and in speeches he has declared that Laurier betrays Canadian independence to Great Britain by enacting a law for the creation of a navy which eventually will lead to the conscription of the young men of Canada.

In addition to Bourassa the conspicuous opponents of the Government's return are Clifford Sifton, former member of the Laurier cabinet, Robert Rogers, minister of public works in the Manitoba Government and head of the Conservative organization in the Prairie West; Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, and Premier Hazen of New Brunswick.

Liberal governments are in power in Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Saskatchewan and Alberta. They have given the Government and reciprocity all possible aid in the campaign.

Edward H. Werner, Republican candidate for Recorder of Deeds over in Somerset county, was born in Meyersdale. After an education in common and Normal schools, he was a successful school teacher, and later engaged in newspaper work, founding the Somerset "Standard," back in the eighties.

EDWARD H. WERNER.

Mr. Werner is chief clerk to the County Commissioners, and during the present administration the office has been put on a business-like and systematic basis, with the result that the most phenomenal fiscal record in the county's history has been made. Mr. Werner believes in and works for low taxes. By asking for competitive bids on the new county hospital and on new county bridges, the Commissioners' office saved taxpayers at least $70,000, and besides, killed the $150,000 bond issue projected by the old board. This is why the Meyersdale "Republican" does not look with favor on the remarkable record of economies, made at a time when less experienced men could have raised taxes. The "Republican" evidently holds high taxes. Which accounts for taxpayers rallying to Mr. Werner's support.

Elmer E. Long for Recorder of Deeds

Political Advertisement.

Over in Somerset county there is a hard fight on for the office of Recorder of Deeds, but according to the best authority obtainable, Elmer O. Long, the engineer and surveyor candidate, is conceded to be the most popular man for this office. The property owners and especially the farmers in most unanimously agree Mr. Long, with his experience as an engineer, would be a most valuable man in that office.

Owing to the development of the natural resources of Somerset county the office of Recorder of Deeds is one of growing importance to the individual property owners. The property owners have come to realize that a competent engineer, surveyor and draughtsman would be of great value in this office and seeing the necessity and value of a man of wide and varied experience along this line his nomination and election is assented.

Points in Favor of Ruppel

1.—He is a non-partisan candidate. He has the unqualified endorsement of people of all parties because they know that he will be an unbiased Judge if elected.

2.—The point raised by the supporters of John A. Berkey that Mr. Ruppel is a Democrat is not well taken, because we, as Republicans, have distinguished precedent in our favor. Roosevelt, when he was president, appointed Democrats to high court positions because he believed in a non-partisan bench. President Taft has also disregarded politics by appointing Democrats of ability to the Supreme Court and other high tribunals, because he believes in a non-partisan judiciary.

3.—We favor Ruppel, not because he is a Democrat, but because he is not a politician; because, if elected, he would render decisions according to the dictates of his conscience.

4.—We favor him because we know he cannot be controlled by sinister influences.

5.—We favor him because we know he would be guided by the law and not by any interest.

Clerk of Orphan's Court Bert T. Landis has recently issued marriage licenses to the following parties:

James Frederick Graham, of Meyersdale, and Clara Lattimer, of Summit township; Henry C. Evans and Rose Vlekos, both of Windsor; Charles P. Miller and Ada J. Griffith, both of Jenner township; Harry M. Shubang and Nellie Lamb, both of Union Hill; Harry C. Boyer, of Hooversville, and Mary V. Gray, of Kautzer.

To the Republican Voters of Somerset County

Here are a few of the numerous reasons why many of the most prominent and influential Republicans in Somerset county are open in their support of the candidacy of the Hon. William H. Ruppel for President Judge to succeed the Hon. Francis J. Kooser:

W. H. RUPPEL

- 1.—Because we believe the Judge of our courts should be free from partisan influence of a political machine.
- 2.—Because the opponent of the Hon. W. H. Ruppel is a machine Republican and is himself a machine man.
- 3.—Because we know from long experience that Mr. Ruppel, if elected Judge, will be the Judge for all the people, and not a Judge for the benefit of any political machine or interest.
- 4.—Because we know from long acquaintance with him that Mr. Ruppel is a man of the very highest character and undoubted honesty and ability.

Points Against Berkey

- There are several reasons why many Republicans will not support John A. Berkey for President Judge:
- 1.—We have been informed and we have reasons for believing that John A. Berkey's candidacy is backed by the Berwind-White Coal Mining Company.
  - 2.—John A. Berkey has a record as a machine man which we believe unfit him to occupy the highest seat in the gift of the voters of Somerset county.
  - 3.—John A. Berkey is a chronic office seeker.
  - 4.—John A. Berkey is not the real choice of the rank and file of the Republicans of Somerset county.
  - 5.—John A. Berkey is a candidate for President Judge because he has political power.

Points in Favor of Ruppel

- 1.—He is a non-partisan candidate. He has the unqualified endorsement of people of all parties because they know that he will be an unbiased Judge if elected.

Let All Somerset County Republicans Read This

We, as Republicans of Somerset county, would say this to our Republican friends who fear to vote for a candidate for Judge because he is a Democrat:

Remember that Cambria county, which is Republican, has a Democrat for Judge—a native of Somerset county—and that he has served the people of Cambria county as a non-partisan.

Remember that Fayette county, which is Republican, has a Democrat for Judge, and is serving as a non-partisan.

Remember that Westmoreland county, which is Republican, has a Democrat for Judge, and is serving as a non-partisan.

These men were elected, not because they were Democrats, but because the people had faith in their integrity and because they did not believe that the bench should be prostituted to politics.

Now since we know that the Hon. W. H. Ruppel is absolutely clean and has a life-time reputation as an honest and able man, we feel that it is our duty as Republicans, desiring to have a man of unquestioned character on the bench, to urge Republicans throughout the county to sustain us in our support of the non-partisan candidate, the Hon. W. H. Ruppel.

THE LOVE STORY OF A GRAY JACKET
By RANDALL PARRISH
AUTHOR OF
"WHEN WILDERNESS WAS KING"
Illustrations by Arthur T. Williamson

"I can merely thank you with all my heart, Captain Wayne, and assure you I both understand and appreciate your purpose. But truly I do not wish any trouble to occur again—you will go back to your post, will you not? You can serve me best in that way, and retain the gratitude and admiration I have ever felt for you."

"At once, Mrs. Brennan," I returned earnestly. "I realize I have done wrong in ever coming here as I have. It is in my first act of disobedience to orders in all my military life. But tell me first that I have forfeited neither your confidence nor your friendship."

"She paused a moment, then added quickly, as though in sudden rush of feeling: 'No friend stands higher in my esteem than you—now please go, Captain Wayne.'"

As I crept back through the darkness, passing beneath the piano into the front room, which was filled with the choking fumes of powder, my mind was a chaos of emotions impossible to analyze. The very depth of love which drew me to her operated now in restraint. God alone knows the struggle in the darkness as I continued to move slowly away from her and toward the door. So deep was my agitation, so intense my thought, that I scarcely realized I was creeping along barely beneath the dead line of those bullets which constantly swept the apartment. Their crashing into the wall was almost meaningless, and I barely noted either the dense smoke or the faint flashes of flame as the little garbison returned shot for shot. It was Brennan's voice—how hateful it sounded then—which recalled my attention.

"Maps," he said, with the sharp tone of weary command, "take a crack at that fellow over yonder by the big tree; he must be in range. You men, I verily believe, shut your eyes when you shoot, for there isn't a man dropped out there in the last half hour."

I had reached the door by this time, but paused now, determined to venture one word of expostulation at his recklessness.

"Major Brennan," I said, speaking sufficiently loud to be audible above the uproar, "do you not think they will attempt to charge the house?"

"Not while we keep up this fire," he returned coldly, evidently recognizing my voice.

"I grant that, at least while darkness lasts. But you have just complained that your men were doing but small execution, and is there not danger of exhausting our stock of ammunition by such a useless fusillade?"

"It will last until our fellows get here—that is, if your men were ever really sent for aid, as you say."

There was a thinly veiled sneer in the words as he spoke them, but I curbed my temper.

"Well, in my judgment, sir—and I tell it you because I deem it a duty—I reported plainly, 'you are making a grave mistake which you may realize when it becomes too late to rectify it. Possibly I have no right to criticize one who is technically in command, yet I am serving as a volunteer, and the conditions are peculiar. I not only remember the scene witnessed by me in the lines yonder, but also recall the fact that we are here to fulfill a sacred duty—the defense of helpless women from outrage. A fatal mistake upon our part would be horrible.'"

"Very well, sir"—and his tone was rough and overbearing—"then kindly recall your soldierly instincts to another little matter. I chance to command here by authority of rank, and hold myself responsible for the proper defense of this portion of the house. I believe you have already been assigned your duties; if you will attend to them I shall be greatly obliged, and whenever I may desire your valuable advice I shall take pleasure in seeking for you."

I turned away in silence and strode back to my post, white with anger. The dining-room remained as I had left it, and when I lay down in my old position and peered out through the broken blind I could mark no change in the appearance of our besiegers.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Hand to Hand.
The faint gray light of early dawn rested upon the outside world, and through the feeble shadows of the mist I was able to distinguish much which before had been shrouded by the black curtain. In front of the window where I rested, the grass-covered lawn sloped gradually downward until it terminated at a low picket fence, thickly covered with vines. A great variety of shrubs, which during the night had doubtless afforded shelter for sharpshooters, dotted this grass plot, while beyond the fence boundary stood a double row of large trees. To the far left of our position the burnt stumps yet smoldered dully, occasionally sending up a shower of sparks as a draught of air fanned the embers, but there were few signs of life visible. For the moment I even hoped our enemies might have grown discouraged and withdrawn. "What has become of the guerrillas?" I asked in wonderment, turning as I spoke to face the Federal corporal who lay on the other side of me. "Is it possible they have given up?"

"I think not, captain," he replied respectfully, saluting as he would one of his own officers. "They were there just before the light came, and I saw a dozen or more stealing along behind the fence not five minutes ago. See, there is a squad of them now huddled together back of where the stable stood."

"Scow your eye close to the corner of the pane," I ordered hurriedly, "and see what you make out toward the front of the house."

"There's men out there sure, plenty of 'em," he reported slowly. "It looks to me mighty like the end of a line of battle, right there by that big magnolia tree. Anyhow, there must be all of twenty fellows lying close together between there and where the stable stood."

"That's it, my lad," I exclaimed, heartily, getting upon my feet as I spoke. "We can stand up now, there's no danger here, but there will be a battle for all of us presently. Those fellows are getting ready to charge us front and rear."

There were five in the room. I could see them only indistinctly, as the morning light was not yet sufficiently strong to penetrate clearly to where we were, but I was able to note those present—the corporal and his wounded companion, with Hipitis and Call of my troop.

"Let the wounded man remain and guard those windows," I commanded. "He would prove of small value in a hand-to-hand struggle, but can probably do some shooting. The rest come with me."

I led them forth into the wide hallway, which extended the full length of the house, with a bright light of stairs just forward, of the kitchen, gradually curving and leading to the second story. The suspended light was yet burning as we came out, but flickered wildly as if in a strong draught of air, and I noticed that the constant rain of bullets during the night had badly splintered an upper panel of the door. Halfway down the broad hallway, and partially obscured by the turn of the stairs, a door stood slightly ajar upon the right hand.

Conjecturing this might be where the defenders of the eastern exposure were lying, I peered within. The blinds were slightly drawn and I was able to perceive little of its interior, excepting that the walls were lined with books.

"Eh, eh," I called, thinking he must be there, "are you in charge here?"

"I've got," came the instant reply, and he at once emerged from the darkness.

"Have the enemy kept you busy?"

"Dor was some shooting, and Hadley he got hurt bad, but der fellows is all gone."

"Bring your men fit for duty out here in the hall, and have them join my party. How many have you?"

"Dor is four, captain."

He drew back, and as he disappeared some one came hastily toward us along the hallway from the rear.

"What is it, Caton?" I asked anxiously, as I recognized him.

"They are forming to rush me, I think," he answered. "I n d a few more men if I can get them."

"They are preparing to assault front and rear at the same time," I answered. "They are mauling now, and in my judgment Brennan will have to face the brunt of it. The front of this house is greatly exposed, and will prove extremely difficult to defend if they come against it with any force. How many men do you absolutely require to hold your position? Remember, the women are all in the front part of the house, and we must protect them at all hazards; come with me. There are times when a higher law than that of military despotism should control our actions. I am going there, orders or no orders. Ebers can command your detachment and accomplish all the service you possibly can. Your rightful place is between these refugees and the women."

"How many additional men will be required to make the back of the house secure?"

"I feel like a new man, Wayne," he said thankfully, "and I know you are right. Four more would be sufficient, besides the one in command."

"Good! Ebers," I said, as my portly sergeant again emerged from out the darkness, "take your four men back to the kitchen and assume command. The guerrillas are preparing to make a rush there, and you must drive them back by a rapid fire. Hurry along now."

The little group had barely vanished beyond the glow of the light when from without our ears were suddenly assailed by a wild, exulting yell that bespoke the charge.

"There they are!" I cried. "Now, lads, come with me!"

With a dive I went under the piano. I heard the sliding doors shut behind us, and almost with the sound was again upon my feet. "To the stairs!" I panted. "Brennan, take the women to the stairs; those fellows are not in the hallway yet, and we can hold them there a while."

In our terrible need for haste, and amid the thick, swirling smoke billowing that inner room almost to suffocation, I grasped the woman chancing to be nearest me, without knowing at that moment who she was. Already the rifle-bullets were splintering the light wood behind us into shavings, and I hastily dragged my dazed companion forward. The others were in advance, and we groped our way like blind persons out into the hall. By rare good fortune it was yet unoccupied, and as we took the few hurried steps toward the foot of the stairs I found my arm was encircling Colla Minor. The depth of despair within her dark eyes and the speechless anguish of her white face, swept for an instant the fierce rage of battle from my brain.

At that moment the mob, discovering our direction of escape, jammed both doorways and surged forth howling into the hall.

"Up!" I cried, forcing her forward. "Up with you; quick!"

I paused a scant second to pluck a sabre from beside a dead soldier on the floor, and then with a spring up the intervening steps, faced about at Brennan's side on the first landing.

"We ought to leave our mark on these inhuman devils here," he said grimly, wiping his red blade on the carpet.

"Unless they reach the second story from without, and take us in the rear," I answered, "we ought to hold back the whole cowardly crew, so long as they refuse to fire."

It was a scene to abide long with a man—a horrible nightmare, never to be forgotten. Above us, protected somewhat by the abrupt curve of the wide staircase, crouched the women. Two were sobbing, their heads buried in their hands, but Maria and Mrs. Brennan sat white of face and dry-eyed. I caught one quick glance at the fair face I loved—my sweet lady of the North—thinking, indeed, it might prove the last on earth, and knew her eyes were upon me. "Then, strength of heart than ever for the coming struggle, I fronted that scene below."

Through the rising haze of smoke I looked down into angry faces, unkempt beards, and brandished weapons. The baffled rancors poured out upon us from both doors, crowding into the narrow space, cursing, threatening, thirsting for revenge. Yet they were seemingly leaderless, and the boldest among them paused at the foot of the stairs. They had already felt our arms; had tested our steel, and knew well that grim death awaited their advance.

But they could not pause there long—the ever increasing rush of those behind pressed the outliers irresistibly forward. Grim necessity furnished a courage naturally lacking, and suddenly, giving vent to a fierce shout, they were hurled upward, seeking to crush us at whatever sacrifice, by sheer force of numbers. We met them with the point, in the good old Roman way, thrusting.

Lesser, fighting with silent contempt for them which must have been deadly dealing. I even heard Brennan laugh, as he pierced a huge ruffian through the shoulder and hurled him backward; but at that moment I saw Craig knock aside a levelled gun and press his way to the front of the seething mass to assume control. His face was inflamed, his eyes bloodshot; drink had changed him into a very demon.

"Damn ye, Red told you not to fire!" he yelled. "Come on, you dogs! You could cut 'em up if ye wasn't sitch and we'll hang them yet."

He leaped straight up the broad steps, his long cavalry sabre in hand, while a dozen of the boldest followed him. Brennan swung his sword high over head, grasping it with both hands, the uplifted blade struck the chain of the hanging lamp, snapped at the hilt, and losing his balance the Major plunged headlong into the ruck below. The downward fall of his body swept the stairs.

As I stood there, panting and breathless, a woman rushed downward, crying, "Save me! Save me!"

"That's all right," I cried anxiously. "You cannot help him. For God's sake go back where you were."

"It is not that," she exclaimed, her voice thrilling with excitement. "Oh, Captain Wayne, do you not hear the bugles?"

As by magic those hateful faces vanished, disappearing by means of every opening leading out from the hall, and when the cheering blue-coats surged in through the broken door, I was yet standing there, apparently alone but for the dead, leaning weak and breathless against the wall, my arm about Edith Brennan.

Tona Vita for the Perfect Life

In a recent interview one of the physicians who are introducing the remarkable new tonic "Tona Vita" to the American public, has this to say: "The manner of living in the larger cities of the United States is such that perfect health is almost impossible; the human machine will not run true and strong day after day with its vitality continually being sapped by the constant nervous strain, irregular hours, hastily eaten food, the wear and tear and rush of city life, are largely responsible for the immense amount of dull, listless, half-sick people of the present generation. Debility or a 'run down' condition as it is called, is everywhere. Half the people I see in street cars, restaurants, theaters, or on the street, are unmistakably in a debilitated condition, with their nerves in such a state that they either wish to lie down and rest or rush after some excitement."

"Any one who has met a constant stream of nervous debilitated people as I have since I began my present work, can tell a man or woman in this condition at a glance. I wish to emphatically state that the number of debilitated people in the larger American cities, is appalling."

"Tona Vita," the medicine I am helping to introduce is to combat this condition. I believe it to be the best preparation ever before sold to the public, in that it is immediately effective in cases of debility and other troubles that go hand in hand with this disease."

You can not hope to enjoy life or meet with much success if you are tired all the time, have little ambition, and feel continually depressed in mind and body. Every half-sick, worn-out man or woman, owes it to themselves and their family, to try "Tona Vita."

If the tonic does not make life more worth living, and brings back the healthy, energetic spirit, that is no laughing matter. The price is refunded, no money being lost.

A. Clarke has the agency for "Tona Vita" in Connelville, Pa.; also for Lee's Rheubarb Laxative, the purest and best family laxative on the market. Lee's Rheubarb Laxative will not injure the most delicate constitution. It is ideal for children.

AT THE THEATRE.

THE SOISSON.

"The Dolly Dimple Girls."

Manager Robbins announces the engagement of those two famous funny fellows, Lewis Golden and Joe Collins, and the Dolly Dimple Girls Company to appear at the Soisson theatre Tuesday, Sept. 26, in two up-to-the minute burlesques, now from start to finish and dealing with the Mexican War, and he is sure his patrons will find this one of the especially good things of the season, judging by the good reports received from places played so far this season. The company is composed of about 20 dainty dancing maidens, in new and fetching costumes, assisted by a few witty fellows and Golden and Collins. Dialogue that is humorous and many new and restricted musical melodies, to make merry the two hours and more that go to make up this entertainment. Many new vaudeville features, and a new novelty called, "The Girl in the Window." You will be sorry if you miss this, so get on the band wagon and get your tickets early.

Secretary L. F. Shutterly of the Frick league has announced the dates for two postponed games of September 16. Both will be played off September 21.

Baseball Notes.

Tom (Buck) O'Brien, the Denver pitcher, is making good with the Boston Red Sox.

Ty Cobb is still the leading hitter, runner and base stealer in the major leagues.

Joe Tinker, of the Cubs, will open his vaudeville season at Spokane, Washington, on November 5.

Clarence Owens, the best umpire in the American Association, will work in the National league next season.

The American League has 30 men hitting for .300 or better, and the National league has 17 in the select list.

There are almost as many newspaper men on the western trip with the Giants as there are ball players on the team.

Manager McGraw is confident that Mathewson and Marquard will bring home the bacon if the Giants and the Athletics meet in the world's series.

Pitcher Wolfgang of the Lowell New England league champions, won 27 out of 32 games pitched this season. He has been signed by the St. Louis Americans.

"Germany" Schaefer is spoken of as the next manager of the Washington team. Schaefer has played great ball at first base for the Nationals this season.

Van Grege, of the Cleveland Naps, continues to hold his own and will no doubt finish the season at the top of the list of winning pitchers in the American league.

The Texas league race was a corker this season. Austin won the pennant with a percentage of .575 and Oklahoma City finished seventh with a percentage of .430.

Last year Danville won the Virginia league pennant and Petersburg finished last. This year conditions are reversed, with Petersburg at the top and Danville in the cellar.

Only the difference of one game (one separated Springfield and Bridgeport at the close of the Connecticut league this season. Springfield landed the muffin, with Bridgeport second.

The Louisville team will make a great barnstorming trip this fall. After playing in Philadelphia, New York and Brooklyn, the Cardinals will leave for the Pacific coast, where they play ten games before leaving for Japan.

PASS REGULATIONS.

Red Tape Provided for Interstate Commerce Commission.

Officers of the Pittsburgh railroads yesterday received copies of the latest set of regulations issued by the Interstate Commerce Commission covering the issuance, use and recording of passes.

The new regulation becomes effective the first day of January next, and supersedes all regulations issued heretofore. These regulations can be said to be the first on the subject, as previous issues have been merely compilations of rulings on the subject made by the commission.

The regulations, which are in the form of an order, prescribe for four classes of passes and make it obligatory on the part of the conductors to keep a record of what used to be considered written evidence of the friendship of railroad officials. The four kinds of passes that may be issued are annual, trip passes, suburban or commuter passes and telegraph passes.

The passes are to be printed only on regular pass stock and numbered without duplicates or omissions and in series not less than a regular year.

Another set of the regulations requires that each railroad file with the commission on or before the first of each calendar year a list of officers authorized to issue passes and a list of names and titles of officers having authority to request passes of other roads.

There also must be a written request for every pass issued, unless the case is exceptional, and in that event the carrier must set forth the facts that made it exceptional and include in it the record sent the commission. All holders of passes must sign their names, and when trip passes are presented the conductor must record the number and time of the train on which each is honored. The only persons who may be carried free without passes are train crews, sleeping car, chair car and dining car employees, crews of private cars, newsboys on trains and baggage agents. The complete record of passes required must be kept either in the books or card form prescribed in the book of regulations. They also must be kept in places accessible for examination by inspectors of the commission. Forms for passes and reports to be made by conductors also are included in the regulations.
